

FLEXI TARIANS

TGI Definition: Flexitarians

TGI definition of Flexitarians: Use vegan/vegetarian products at least once a week OR often make/eat vegetarian dishes.

Our flexitarians are mostly young adults, aged 18-39, with a significant majority being women. While they're not top earners, they have a comfortable disposable income, partly because many don't have kids or own homes. They love spending time on food - whether it's shopping, cooking, or even growing it.

They're active people, enjoying regular walks and weekly outdoor activities like running or biking. When they're indoors, they enjoy cooking and reading, and they're also big fans of social media platforms like Instagram and Facebook. Dining out to explore new plant-based options is a favorite pastime, and they're deeply committed to animal welfare.

Attitude & Lifestyle

FOOD AWARENESS

Unsurprisingly, they are very interested in what they eat (37%) and how it's made. Environmental protection is intertwined with their daily food choices (30%) along with conscious energy consumption (26%) to pollute less. 48% often eats or cooks vegan dishes.
